

Paul J. Tafelski, P.C. Increases Availability of Online Legal Assistance for Michigan Family Law Clients

Bloomfield Hills family lawyer updates website with expanded content on divorce, child custody, child support and domestic violence issues.

Bloomfield Hills, MI (PRWEB) June 30, 2010 — The family law firm of Paul J. Tafelski, P.C. has increased its level of service to Oakland County and all of Michigan with a newly updated website.

The site, michigan-familylaw.com, provides a wide range of information about domestic legal issues in a user-friendly format.

“We’re very proud of how well our new family law site helps individuals in need of advice about family-related legal matters. Our site can help them perform an initial assessment of their situation, whether they are dealing with separation, divorce or child custody issues, and identify avenues toward relief,” said Paul J. Tafelski, the firm’s principal.

Paul J. Tafelski, P.C. has represented individuals, families and businesses for more than a decade with high quality, individualized advocacy. The firm assists family law clients throughout Michigan, with a focus on the Oakland County towns of Troy, Novi, Royal Oak, Bloomfield Hills, Rochester Hills, Farmington Hills, West Bloomfield and Birmingham.

The website’s updated content extends the availability and ease of access to the firm’s family law services. Site users will find informative articles about divorce, child custody, child support and domestic violence, among other topics.

“These are difficult issues, particularly for those who are dealing with them in their own lives,” Tafelski said. “Our website provides initial direction and understanding for those who need advice and assistance in negotiating these personal challenges.”
